Dear Mike:

Enclosed are some points that we would much appreciate Chairman Fraser making at the opening of our session on Thursday. Could you show the paper to him in advance and then store it for him in your facilities? It has to be classified because it contains our man's name. Let me know if there is any problem. Thank you.

SECRET

Statement for Chairman Fraser

This morning we will be receiving separate briefings from the CIA and the FBI on North Korean intelligence and subversive activities.

These will be informal, background, executive sessions, and no official transcripts will be taken. The briefings will be at the Secret level of classification, and I would like to remind Members and staff that the information we will be receiving must not be discussed with anyone not having both the appropriate security clearance and a legitimate need-to-know. Any notes taken during these sessions must be classified Secret and handled accordingly.

With that, I would like to introduce [ ] of the CIA's Office of Legislative Counsel, and [ ] of the Directorate of Operations. Our CIA briefer will be [ ] [ ] in the East Asia Division. I understand that he has considerable experience in Korean affairs.

Because our briefer is not an overt CIA employee and an inadvertant disclosure of his relationship with the Agency could jeopardize his future career, I would ask that you treat his identity with the utmost discretion, and that you refrain from including it in your notes even though they are classified.

I believe we are ready to proceed.
